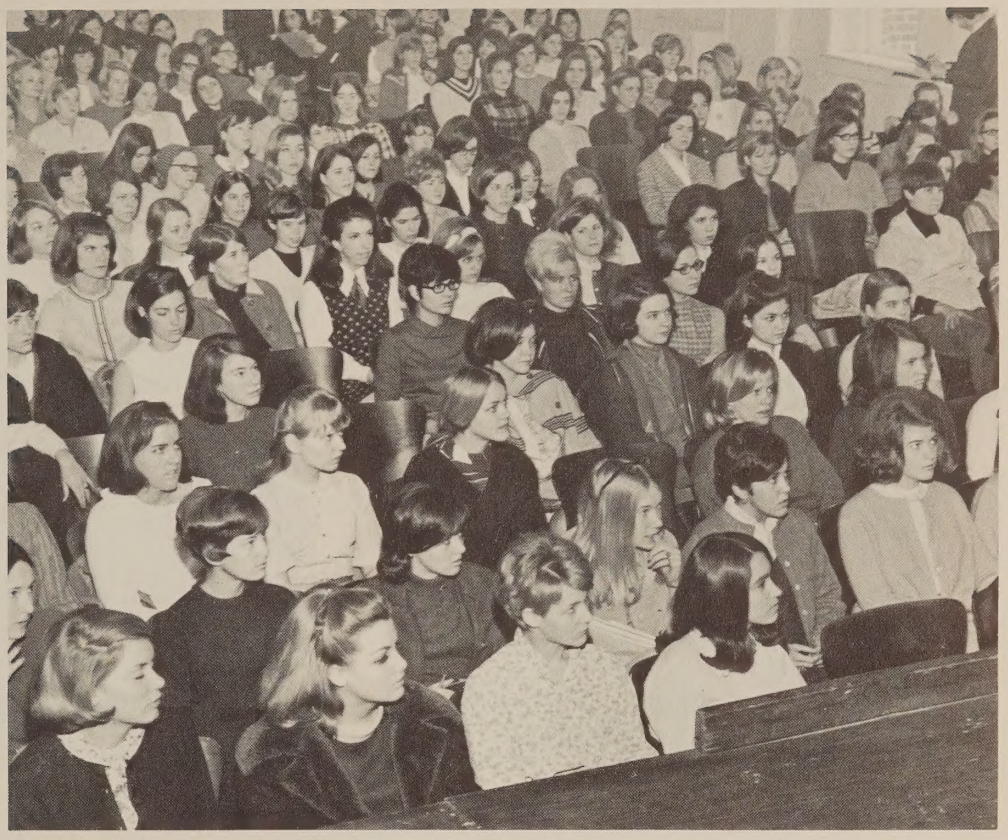
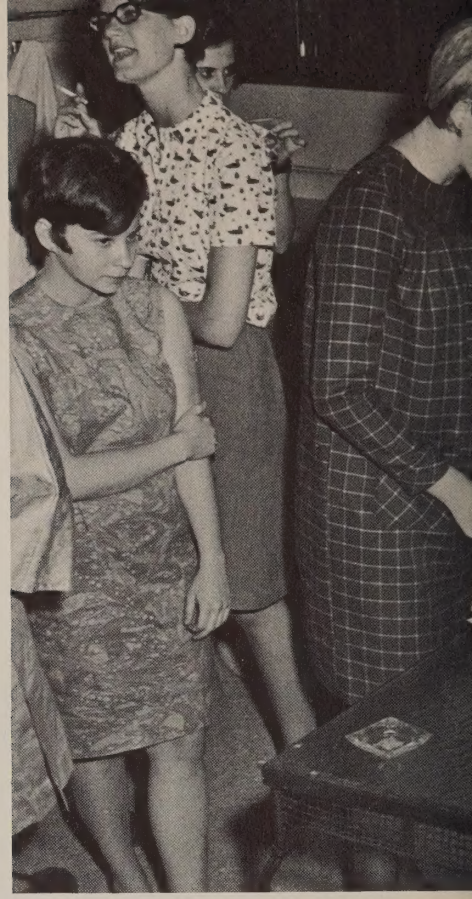
We were all branches of different trees, who had come to Sullins to learn more about ourselves and those around us. Hidden in this expected growth were many unexpected joys and sorrows. We left our familiar surrounding intent upon being brave and wise. Little did we expect the impact given by those little yellow grade slips nestled in our mailboxes, or anticipate the delight brought on by our first big snow. Yes, Sullins brought us many things we had never dreamed of—AS THE TREE GROWS, WE WERE GROWING ALSO.

We complained about Bristol but like each part of our lives here together we grew to love the whole. There were rooms to decorate, each after its own fashion, and then cleaning to be done. We agonized over rules, and loved it; we attended lectures and assemblies and concerts and conferences, never admitting, but always believing that they were fine. With all of this we still managed a little time for dates and things. . . . . .

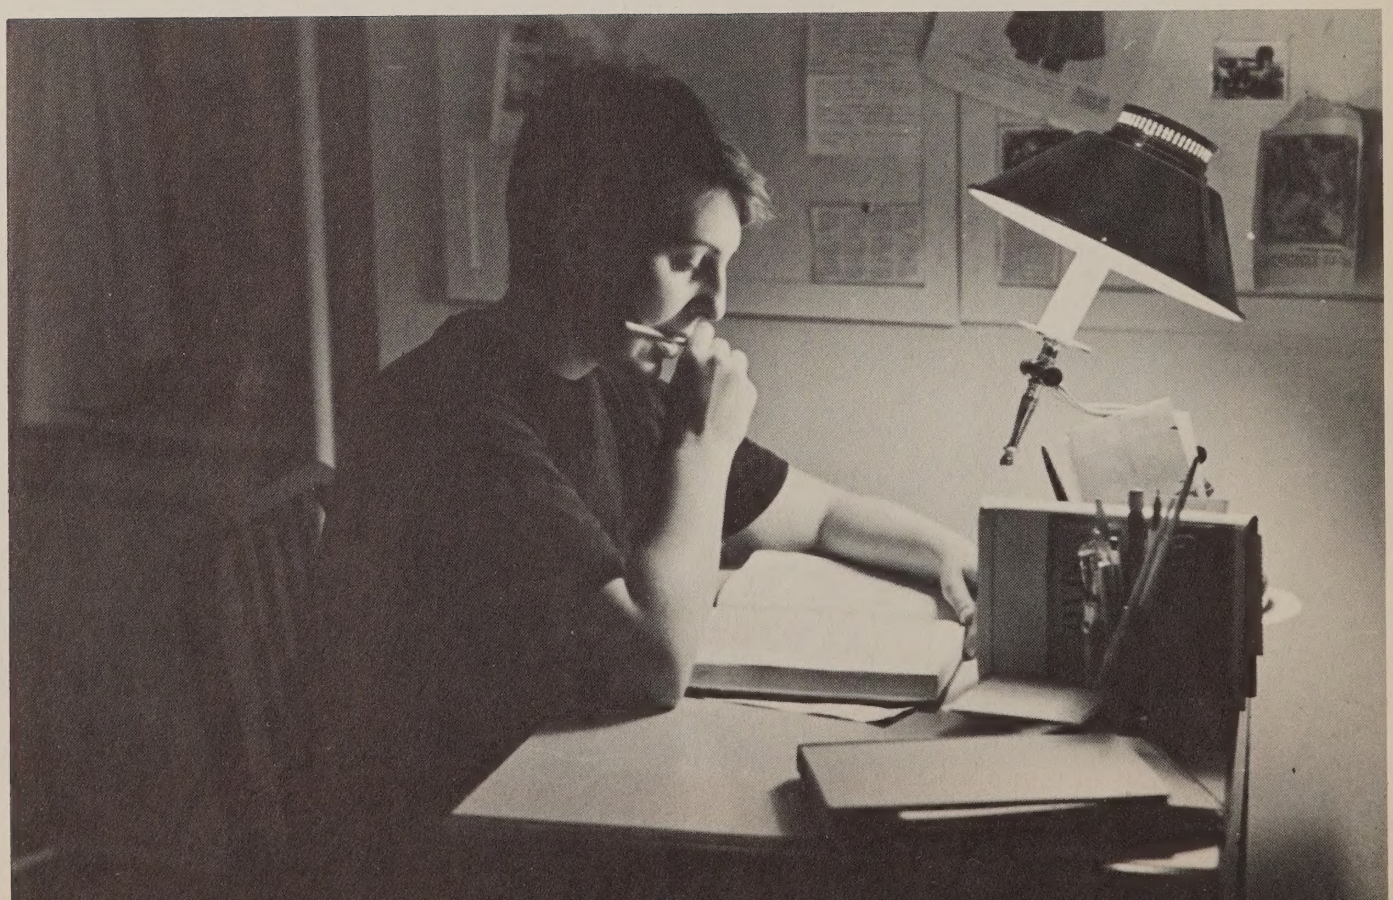


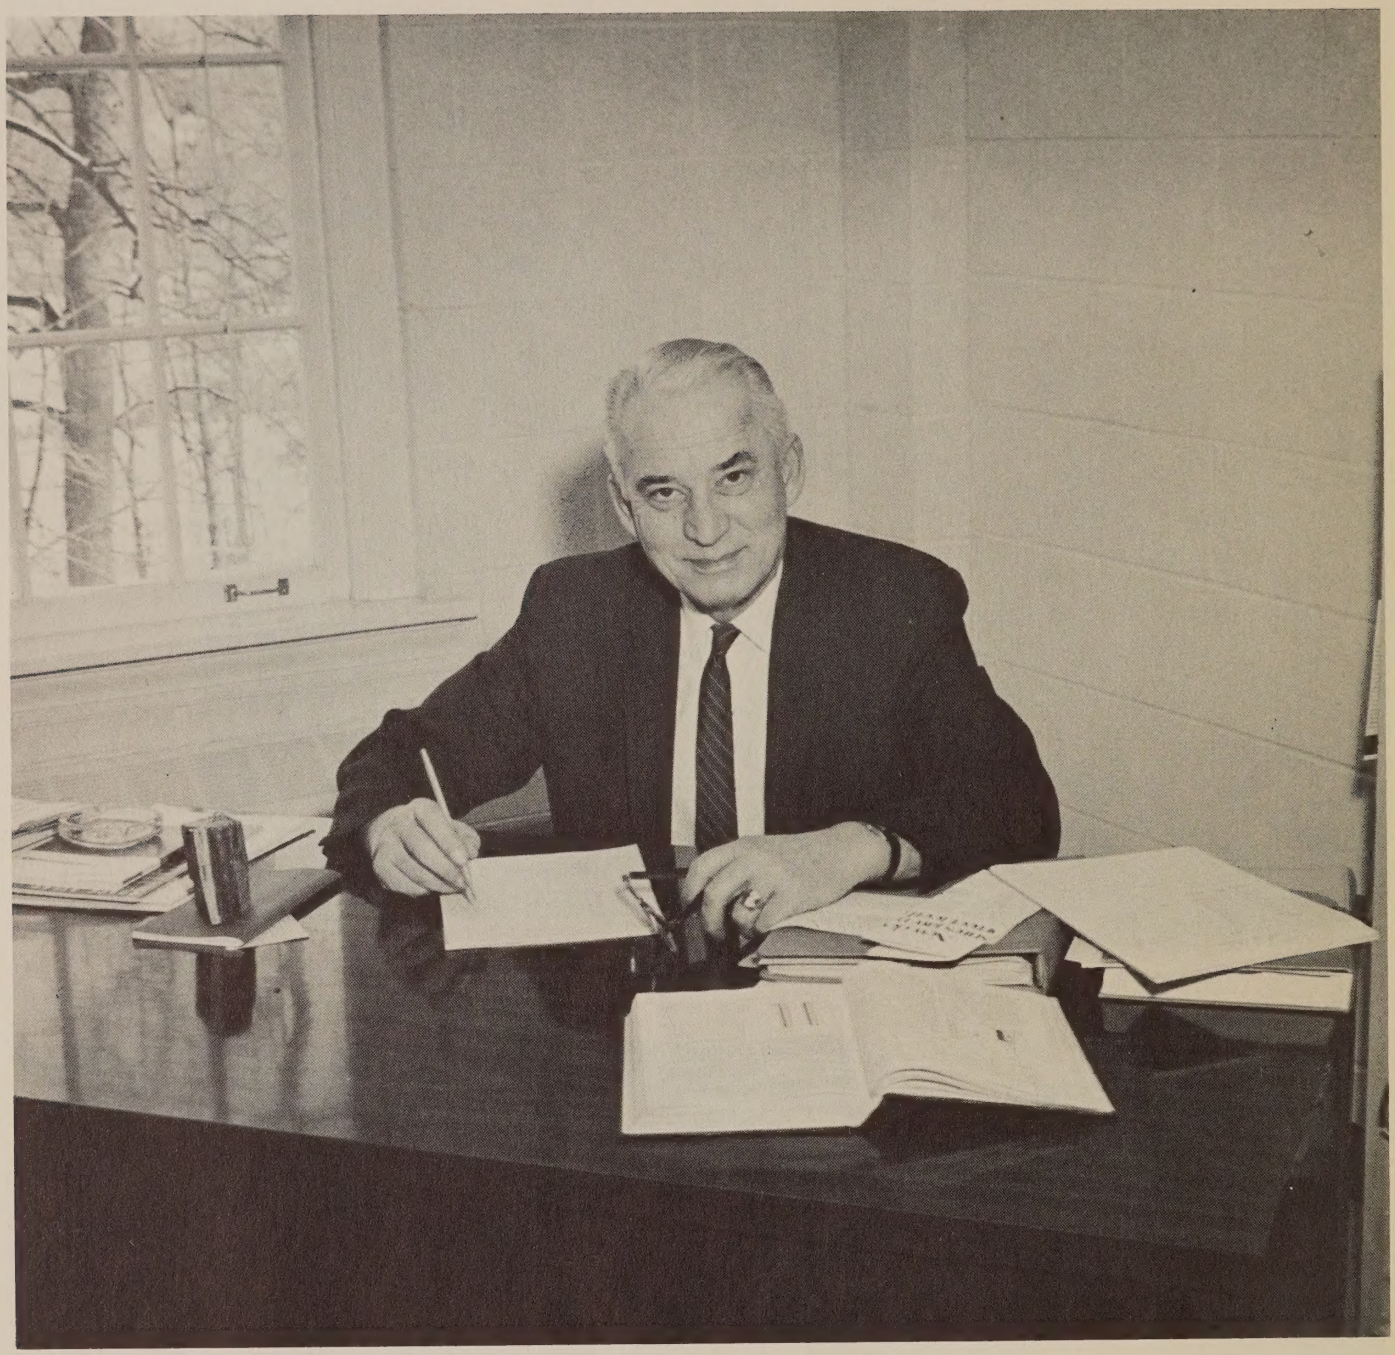


The time we spent here was not empty. A major implement of our individual delight has been that small, black, curiously shaped instrument known as—the telephone. We even fostered the bakery business by being constantly in need of a birthday cake or a Congratulations cake or sometimes just a Happy Day cake. Lovers of outdoor sports, we headed for Camp Sequoya and those wonderful Lake Days when the days were warm and the nights chilly and the bands fantastic.

But even still a few idle hours appeared, so not to be outdone or undressed, we headed for the laundry room or sometimes the Hut.

Often we had to hurry just a bit to get everything done. We hastened from meals to class or to meetings with almost the same fervor with which we rushed to sign-in from a "town engagement." As graduation dawned for the sophomores, lights stayed on later at night and hopefully the halls were quieter. The culmination of the year was approaching and we wanted to be ready.





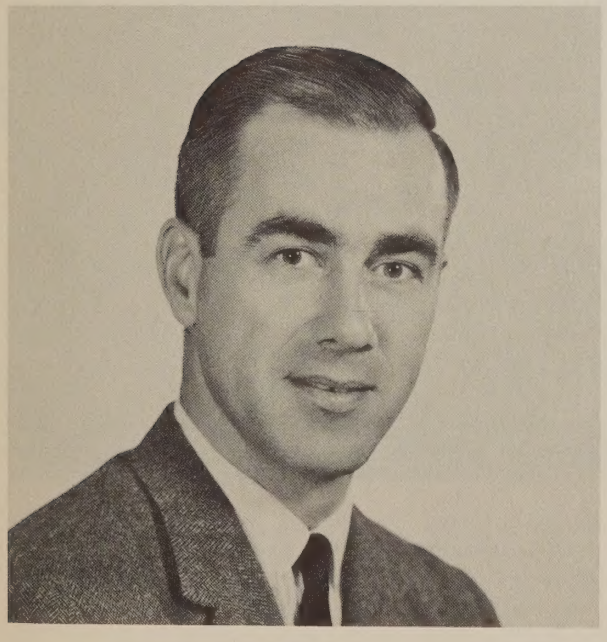
and we were nourished. . .

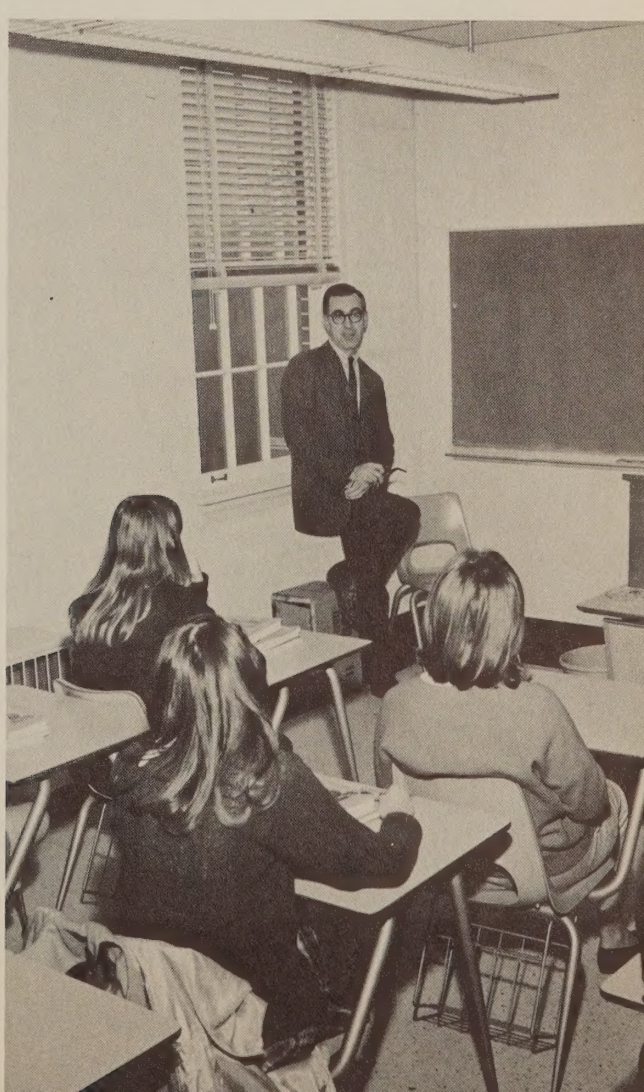
we dedicate...

According to Sullins tradition the SAMPLER is dedicated to a rare individual, and to one who has contributed much to life at Sullins. This year is far from the exception.

An encouraging smile, a helpful word, and a high degree of knowledge are a few of the endearing characteristics of this individual. By his example we have learned to think for ourselves and to know why we do so. We have also learned to respect the opinions of others although they may differ from our own.

We owe so much to this outstanding person, and as a token of our esteem and appreciation it is with great honor that the Sophomore Class dedicates the 1968 SAMPLER to Mr. William A. Knipe.





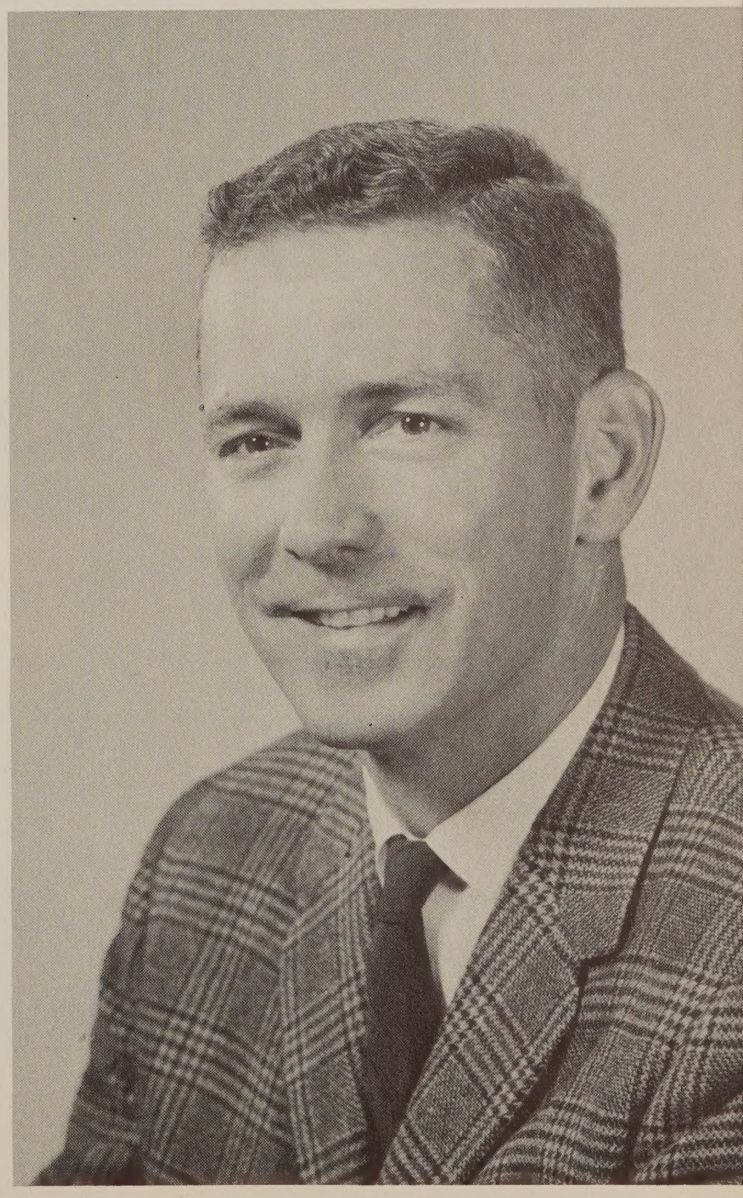
Mr. William T. Martin, President of Sullins College, came to Sullins in 1945 as Executive Vice-President. Before assuming his position here, he practiced law in Knoxville, Tennessee; Portland, Oregon; and New York City. He received his B.A. Degree from Washington and Lee and his LL.B. from Harvard.

President Martin, who has a warm, understanding personality, has worked to bring about a more meaningful faculty-student relationship. He has encouraged high academic standards, especially endeavoring to give each student a firm foundation in liberal arts.

Miss Margaret Johnson has been Dean of Women at Sullins since 1954. She received her B.A. Degree from De Pauw University and her M.A. Degree from Northwestern.

Besides attending student body and class meetings, Dean Johnson advises the Presidents' Council and the Judicial Council.

Dean Johnson feels her vocation is her avocation; for she considers her girls her hobby.



Mr. Benjamin F. Wheless, Dean of Faculty at Sullins, received his B.S. Degree from the University of North Carolina and his M.S. from the University of Tennessee. Dean Wheless tries to offer a planned curriculum that includes as many diverse roads to a broad education as possible. He also teaches Social Science and Economics.

Library

Our library gave each girl an opportunity for research and study, if she so desired. Many hours of reading and work were done here—term papers, humanities, and social science assignments. The library was also a casual place to go to get away from the constant noise or to read magazines or to listen to records. As we look back, we find that a large part of our college days was spent in Baskervill.

Sophomores

As the summer days came to a close, the essence of Fall was in the air. We arrived on campus, full of excitement at seeing old friends, and wondering what the Autumn would bring.

In the Fall, the campus was ablaze with a fire of colors. It seemed to ignite a spark inside every student, signifying the start of a new year—a very important year. It was now our turn to be a big sis, our turn to win the football game, and our turn to be looked up to. We remember that first letter, and the first phone call from those special people. Soon vacations came, and we saw the campus change from multi-colored to pure white.

With Winter, came the roar of the radiators, and the sudden realization that the year was half over. We awaited exams, and the outcome of our grades. Mardi Gras was on its way, bringing with it the rustle bustle of making reservations, buying gowns, and greeting parents. Soon we were to watch the campus change again, for the last time.

Spring brought a rebirth of nature, yet to us, it was almost the end of an unforgettable year. We remember our tears of joy when we received our acceptances to schools. We remember our tears of sadness at our last closed curtain service.

All minds are focused on Graduation. We have watched the seasons change here, as we have changed also. We turn heads to the future now. As we leave the campus, we lock all the memories in our hearts. Continuing our journey, "we are a part of all we have met."

Our Freshman year was everything they told us to expect, and even more. Little did we know of the work we would have to do, the good times we would see, and most important the companionship we were soon to find.

Those first few weeks we were subjected to taking placement tests, learning rules of our new culture, being entertained by the Cotton Pickers, meeting new people and attending our first college classes.

Since Rat Week was a tradition, we could not avoid it. We learned vital things of life, such as how to fry like an egg and to "tiptoe through the tulips."

Our class sponsored the Christmas Banquet. We had a broad social life, consisting of trips to VPI, Davidson, Sewanee, Lake Days, Fall Frolics, and of course Mardi Gras.

Studying took up a great deal of our college days, especially around exam time. But we worked toward the goal of being Sophomores.

The Spring brought many happenings. Some of us went constantly to Cotton Pickers practice, striving to become a Picker. Some of us were elected to school offices for the coming year. Springtime, also, meant soaking up the sun's rays between classes, exams, and finally seeing our Sophomore class graduate. It was then we realized we were moving up and replacing those graduates. We were no longer Freshmen.

Presidents' Council

The Presidents' Council operates with the philosophy that it must continually strive to be the student's council. It is the means by which the student body and the administration can work together effectively.

This year, the Council established itself as a "Springboard for action," not only action to encourage improvement of the college, but also for more student participation.

The quality of this student supervised system demonstrates Sullins' ability to operate under student leadership. Highlights of the Council's activities this year are participation in Who's Who in American Junior Colleges; Time's Choice '68; Glamour's search for the best dressed college girl; and membership in the recently formed Virginia Student Government Association.

Judicial Council

The Judicial Council of Sullins has established itself as a governing and disciplinary organization. With the Honor Code and Student Handbook as guides, the members of the council strive for student self-improvement.

The council is composed of five sophomores and two freshmen members with Miss Johnson serving as adviser. On important matters it meets jointly with the Faculty Advisory Committee.

The Judicial Council supervises the work of the three House Councils, which carry the responsibility for maintenance of standards in each dormitory.

OFFICERS: Thada Baine, Vice-President; Jan Zweifel, President; Sara Warr, Secretary.

Working together to promote harmony within the three dormitories, the House Council is another integral branch of our student government. Along with a freshman and sophomore representative from every floor, each of the house mothers work faithfully to enforce regulations and make life happier for us all. Elected at the beginning of each semester, house council members are chosen upon the basis of responsibility, grade average, and integrity. They are expected to take room check each evening, collect mail, and keep us generally in line.

The House Presidents co-ordinate the activities of their own councils, meeting with their dorm counselors and council members once a week to discuss any problems which may arise.

Sampler

Numerous pages concerning two classes; the SAMPLER. Beginning with the summer before the school year and continuing through to the printer's deadline, its production involved the coordinated efforts of writing, designing, photographing, editing, and managing.

But not only is the book a resume of the year's activities, it is also a unified extension of one central theme through all passages of the work. The theme being: "As the tree grows, we grow also."

Due to the diligent leadership of the editor-in-chief, and the frenzied teamwork of all the staff members, the layout was excitingly revitalized with the innovation of more pictures and less meaningless copy. With Mrs. Nicholson's benevolent smile, providing a calming influence and bringing order to chaos, the yearbook was completed.

The Sullins

The 1967-68 Reflector staff has done an exceptionally fine job of publishing the college newspaper. Under the new sponsor, Mr. Dwight Childers, the staff has done its best to inform students about both past and future activities,

Campus Religious Organization

Sullins is interested in the spiritual and moral growth of each student. The Campus Religious Organization sponsors all religious activities on Campus. It is open to all students with the hope that each girl will continue her own growth on an individual basis.

Under the direction of Miss Gregg, and the C.R.O. Council it hosts Thursday Chapels, numerous speakers, Communion Services, and those unforgettable closed curtain services.

Its main event of the year is the Christmas party held for the underprivileged children in the Bristol area.

Cheryl Mulholland and Debbie Worsham wonder if Santa Claus will be as good to them.

Phi Theta Kappa

Barbara Hook and Anne Wilson seem to be quite elated at being named to Phi Theta Kappa.

The Phi Theta Kappa organization at Sullins is the National Greek Honorary Society for two-year colleges. It is the only Greek Letter society on campus.

Election to Phi Theta Kappa is based on the maintainance of an over all "B" average for three semesters, praise-worthy character, and promise of future intellectual growth, and effectiveness.

The Zeta Chi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa here at Sullins is one of more than one hundred chapters in qualified junior colleges throughout the country.

Girls maintaining a "B" average in their science and math courses are eligible for membership in the Science Club. Sponsored by Miss Hilton, the club provides an opportunity for students to understand the importance science plays in our daily lives.

Aside from their annual banquet, the club sponsored a "science week" which brought two very interesting speakers to the campus, Dr. and Mrs. Mashburn.

Each year the club presents a gift to the College. Many of the trees and shrubs, which enhance the beauty of the campus, have been purchased by the Science Club.

OFFICERS: Sherry Lundquist, Treasurer; Janet Grkovic, President; Mary Parker, Secretary; Barbara Hook, Vice-President.

Campus Chest

The Campus Chest is one of the most worthwhile organizations on the Sullins Campus. Its goals are threefold; directed toward serving the school, the community, and the nation.

The Campus Chest sponsors an annual drive to collect money for various charities. This year, the Chest called out for volunteers to aid in the "fixing-up" of the Bristol Health Clinic which was a great success.

For the past several years it has sponsored a foster child in Japan.

Modern Languages Club

The Modern Language Club is an active club whose purpose is to promote the study of foreign cultures. This is the club's second year in existence, and already has a large membership. With the aid of Mr. Glasgow and Mr. Adair, who act as advisers for the club, the girls have sponsored a dance and a pizza party this year.

All students are eligible for membership if they have previously taken a foreign language, are now taking a foreign language, or have lived in a foreign country.

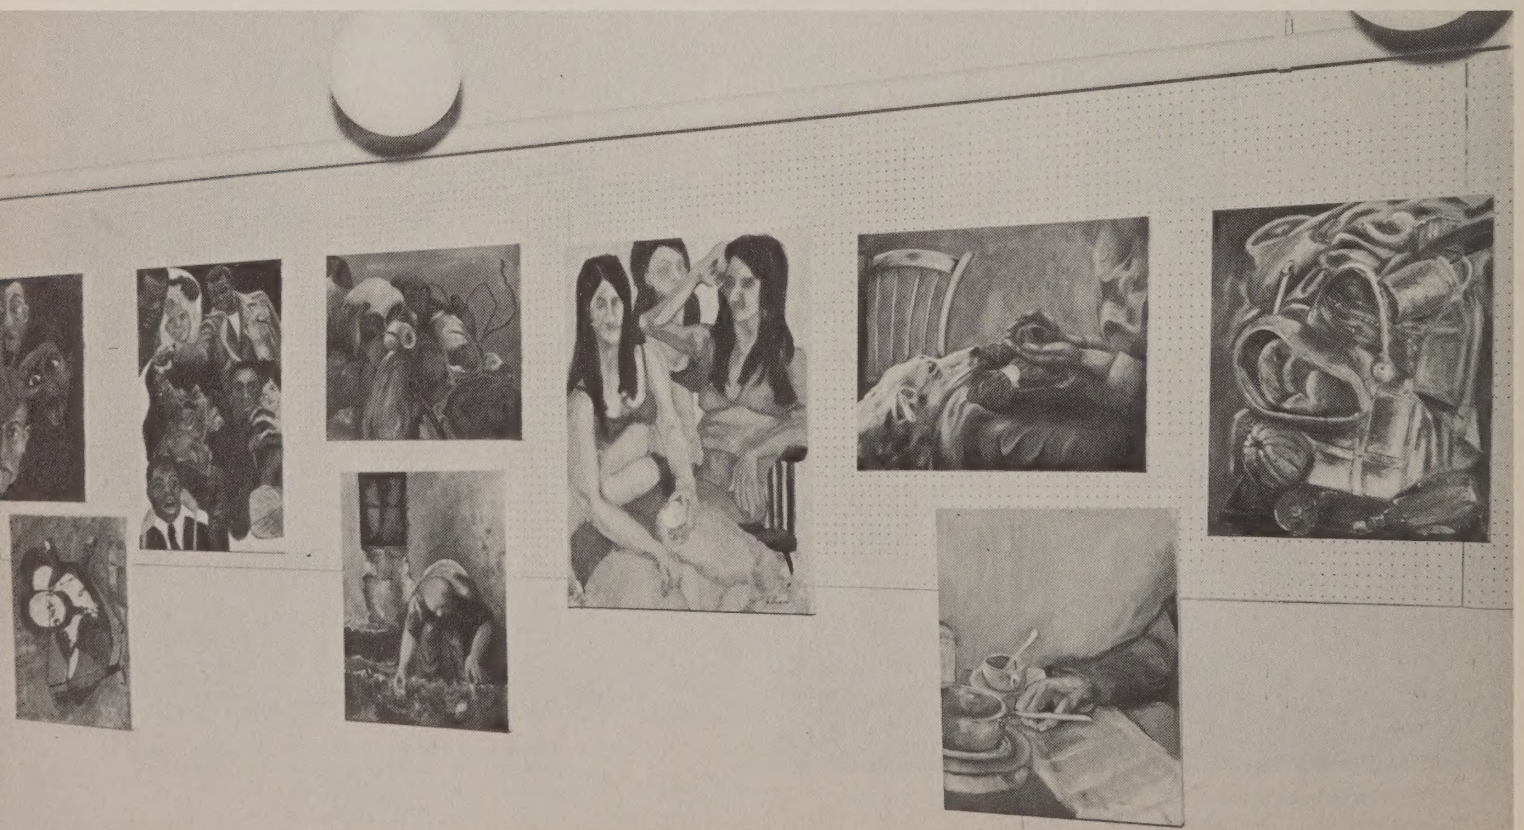
Student Art Guild

Panny Graham is working diligently while Judy Chew seems to be thoughtfully meditating over her painting.

This display represents a contribution from each Art Guild Member.



Who knows what Sullins would do without the capable hands of the girls in the Art Guild. They provide the scenery for Mardi Gras and May Day productions and have spent many long hours adorning walls of the Potpourri. Their annual banquet is always one of the best; this year their theme was "Alice in Wonderland."

The Guild is an honorary club, and membership is awarded to those students who have outstanding ability, with a "B" average in all of their art courses.

One of its aims is to try to further the appreciation of art on campus. In addition to this, the Guild works as a service organization providing scenery and props for various school functions, including Mardi Gras and other Dance Department productions.

Denise Barbieri, Chris Landes, Dorcas Evans, Mary Kay Garnett, Panny Graham, Muffet Robbs, Ann Yancey, and Judy Chew take a brief break from their banquet.

Miss Nichols, adviser, Muffet Robbs, Panny Graham, Judy Chew, Chris Landes, Dorcas Evans, Denise Barbieri, Susan Gregg, Mary Kay Garnett, Ann Yancey.

OFFICERS: "T" Corcoran, Vice-President; Mr. Olsen, Director; Sharon Rice, Secretary; Susan Ferency, President.

The Sullins Players provide many opportunities to acquire a taste for the theatre. Under the direction of one dynamic Mr. Richard K. Olsen, the Players presented two major productions this year. "The Bald Soprano" by Eugene Ionesco, and "Six Characters in Search of an Author" by Pirandello. The Voice Choir also performed, expressing ideas of man's relationship to the Modern world. Any girl who shows an interest in any area of the Theatre is asked to join the group.

Sullins

Kirk Andrews, Marilyn Hill, Ned Meekins, Barry Levy, and "T" Corcoran seem oblivious to the entrance of Sherry Webb.

Players

Players seem quite intrigued at "T"'s reading. Midge Winchester, Molly Hess, Sharon Rice, Ann Allen, Chris Gilliland, Marilyn Hill, Susan Ferency, Sandy Conley, Piji Williams, Cissy Stoll, Nancy Holcombe, Claire King, Nima Lewis. (Back) Linda Price, "T" Corcoran, Kathy Wood, and Sherry Webb.

(Bottom to top) Mr. Daugherty, Laurie Wyman, Susan Maynard, Adrienne Anderson, Edie McCary, Ramona Garcia, Kathy Vogt, Bobbie Blackistone, Debbie Hinshaw, Ann Downing, Sara Doepke, Trigg Goodman, Alison Spurlin, Linda Ward, Mrs. Catron, Wendy Karsten, Sheryl Swan, Darrah Gustafson, Jan Reeder, Ann Wilson, Diane Frame, Sheri Roussel, Renee Staudt, Janet Taylor, Sandy Gillingham, Podi Brown, Eleanor Coldwell, Vicki Fortunato, Pam Wilson, Gay Short, Beth Lowe, Dawn Miller, Jane Dorrance, Kathy Brown, Mary Kay Garnett, Donna Lanting, Sue Gant, Luanne Loofbourrow, Chris Hoffman, Carolyn Wohlford, Diane Dewey, Anne Gilmore, Sandy Scholl, Jane Tucker.

The Sullins College Choir is formed for the study and performance of Choral literature. Admission to the group is by audition, and students from both classes are eligible. Under the superb direction of Mr. Harold Daugherty, Jr., the choir has given several performances throughout the year at Sullins, and at other campuses. This year, the choir sang with the Washington and Lee Choir and the University of the South Choir here, then made special trips to Sewanee and Lexington for repeat performances.

The Sullins Choir combined with the choir from Sewanee put on an excellent performance at Mardi Gras.

The Christmas Concert was very much a success with Washington and Lee and Sullins Choirs singing together.

Dance Club

The Dance Club, sponsored by Madame Belova, is open to all girls who are interested in the field of dance. This year, the girls in the club have been quite active as they have sponsored a dance, a banquet, a slumber party and many films.

The Club is indeed a vital part of Sullins, providing entertainment for various programs and stimulating interest in ballet and modern dance.

Cotton Pickers

The Cotton Pickers have something very special going for them . . . a sound unique to the freckle-faced thirteen-some. They have the ability to stay fresh and exciting no matter how many times one has heard them. Regardless if it's "We Are" or "Plaisir d'Armour"—they know how to get to your ear . . . and soon your feet are tapping, your hands are clapping and you're singin' along.

OFFICERS: Jane Whitman, President; Betsy Conover, Secretary; Kit Chandler, Treasurer; Paula Simpkins, Vice-President.

Lagnaippe

Carole Thrasher, Sally van Noppen, "T" Corcoran, Kay Boyd, Christine Buckner, Cissy Bowers, and Linda Bateman, members of the Lagniappe staff, go over last year's edition and talk about possibilities for the coming edition.

An industrious and interested group of hopeful writers and artists comprise the staff of the Lagniappe, Sullins' literary magazine. Published once a year, during the April Fine Arts Festival, the Lagniappe offers an outlet for the creative ideas of all students and faculty.

Advised and constructively criticized by Mr. R. E. Onorato and Mr. D. M. Childers, the staffers benefit from forum discussions of their own works. Sally van Noppen served as editor, and in conjuction with assistants Linda Bateman, Christine Buckner, and Lorna Terrell, produced a fine magazine.

The Hostess Committee

A valuable addition this year, the Hostess Committee serves the Admissions Office here at Sullins. The hostesses stand ready to show prospective students and their families around the campus. They answer questions that the students may have concerning the college and help to make them feel the warm atmosphere of the school by introducing them to faculty, students, and the Residence Counselors.

Hoofprints

Trophies and ribbons adorning the Hoofprints Lodge inspire a feeling of pride to all who ride at Sullins. They not only show how well Sullins' "Susies" can ride, but how long riding has been a part of Sullins.

This year something new was added to the Hoofprints activities. The Club sponsored a Carnival at Halloween which was open for each and every club on campus to set up a booth. The booth provided money for the club and pleasure to the participants.

Aside from the carnival, the energetic Hoofprinters have sponsored three horse shows. Under the direction of Miss Hatcher, the club has stimulated student interest in campus life and equitation.

Women's Recreational Association

Sports of various kinds add fun and enjoyment to the busy lives of Sullins students. Under the direction of the W.R.A., officers, unit leaders, and sponsor, activities are planned with the hope that all students will participate and make use of the facilities available.

The "powderpuff" football game kicked off the fall season of events. Sophomores and freshmen met for a game of friendly rivalry. This year, the Sophs, rallied by our gorgeous cheerleaders, and our two coaches, Miss Christopher and Mr. Kennedy, tromped the Frosh by a score of 24-0.

Next came volleyball intramurals. Under the leadership of the unit leaders, teams were eliminated until one remained undefeated. Kay Boyd brought her team to an exciting victory.

As the snow fell and Christmas vacation was upon us, the annual Christmas caroling party added to the season's joy. Hot chocolate and cookies afterwards were a welcomed sight to many frost-bitten carolers. With winter, came basketball intramurals and the organization of teams headed by the unit leaders. Betsy Conover led the winning team.

Among the new events sponsored by the W.R.A., were a T.V. raffle, a walk-in Ping Pong tournament, and a bridge tournament. It again sponsored Peanut Pal week, with a party and the raffling off of a 3 minute telephone call.

The year's activities were wound up by the W.R.A. banquet, the theme being "Rodeo Time."

OFFICERS

Sarah Jones, Pris Gallagher, Anne Kieckhefer, Miss Christopher, Panny Graham, Cissy Bowers, Eve Shelton, and Peggy Higgins seem quite proud of their third place trophy.

Coached by Miss Christopher, and headed by Captain Tam Robertson, the volleyball team had an excellent season.

This year, they participated in a tournament which included seven schools, and captured the third place trophy.

Units to Victory

Dribbling, passing, and shooting successfully, the Sullins Basketball team completed a good season. Always a favorite winter sport at Sullins, the team was supported by many avid fans and faculty members.

The team's final game was against the brave faculty, who put the team to a real test.

Melinda Rivers and Lynne Scott are up and ready to capture the loose ball.

Hockey, Tumbling, Tennis,

Co-captains of the Hockey team, Pris Gallagher, and Sarah Jones prepare for a coming game.

The Hockey team exhibited skill and sportsmanship as they battled for the ball during the fall season of games.

Despite the stiff competition, the girls brought the team to a spirited victory, with a defeat over rival V.I.

Miss MacKinnon's excellent tumbling class provided lessons in coordination and balance.

The members of the tennis team, Debbie Clark, Pris Gallagher, Linda Wilson, Lorna Terrell, Lou Binkley, Susan Rexer, Miss Christopher, Melinda Rivers, Lil Gray, and Jan Zweifel, watch as Sherrill Selby demonstrates the proper backhand form.

Jean Nolan and Lucy Bosley are on the spot ready to stop any Freshman aggression into their territory.

One of the most popular spring sports on campus is tennis. The tennis team, under the direction of Miss Christopher, participated in a season of intercollegiate games, both in the spring and the fall.

Jan Zweifel gives a strong serve to begin the game.

Lorna Terreli and Happy Strong learn how to swing with Sandy Watson as instructor.

Melissa Schmitt, Tam Robertson, and Gina Carey are but a few of the Sullins girls who enjoy folk-dancing.

Spring Takes Us to Link and Lake

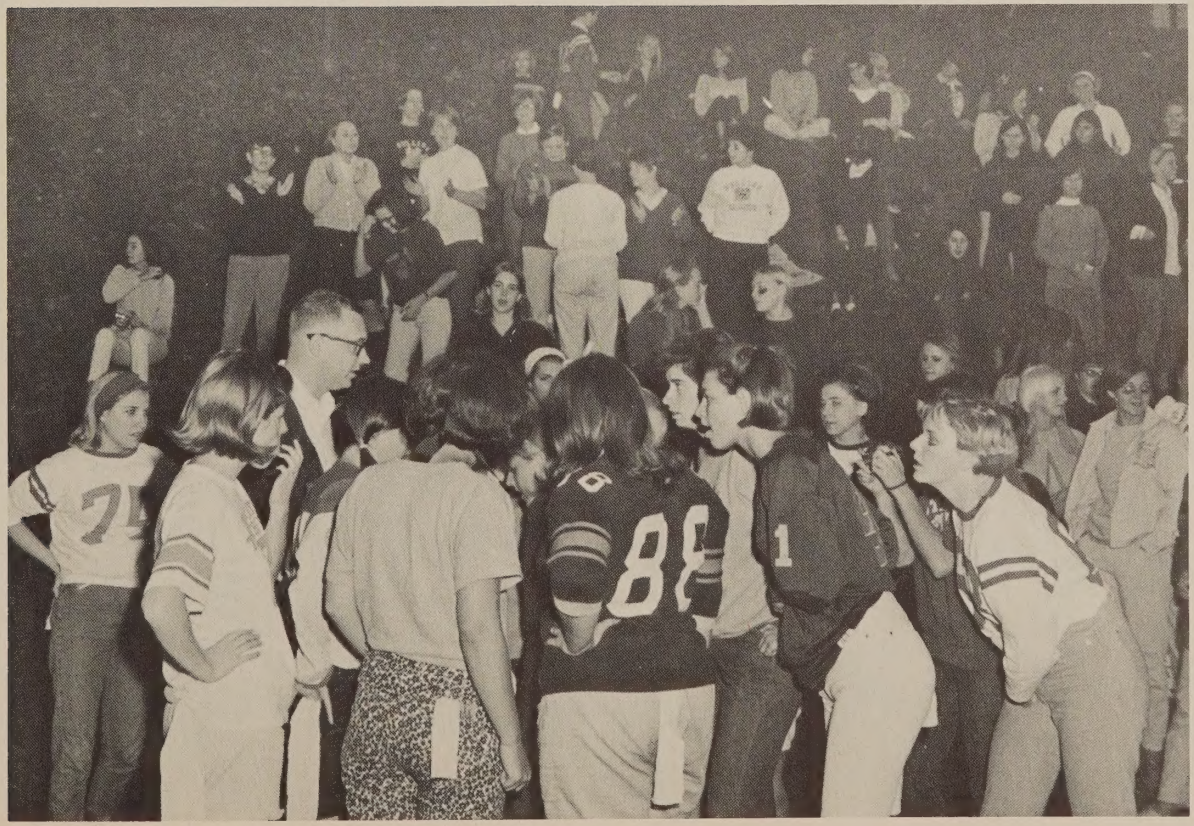
Students spend many wonderful hours sailing and boating at Camp Sequoya.

The athletic activities at Sullins are full and varied. Golf and folk-dancing are taught as Physical Education classes.

The "Island," Camp Sequoya, hosted many activities for students this year. Lake Days became a popular attraction with the girls inviting their dates to spend a day at camp boating, water skiing, swimming, and dancing. The camp, also, provided a place for relaxation after a busy week at school. During the winter it meant happy hours by the big open fire cooking steaks and singing to the tune of ukes or sledding and snowball fights outside. Spring brought with it tennis, sailing, canoeing, swimming, volleyball and basketball games in the open-air gym.

To look back over the events of our almost completed year is a bit breath-taking. How could so much have happened in so short a time?

For the Freshmen, the awe with which they viewed their new life is gone. In its place are numerous memories; the reception at the home of President Martin where they first encountered the members of the faculty, Lake Day at Camp Sequoya with that "special escort," and the Powder Puff Football Game where they learned that the Sophomores ruled supreme.



The sharing of "Surprises"—The night we all met in the auditorium and heard the faculty version of the "Pickers." Mr. McKinney was so great on the tub and Miss Loyless played the spoons as they had never been played before.

Then there was "Rat Week." Sheryl was just one of the many rats who crawled out that night while the sophomores screamed and cried, "Rat Don't Smile! !"

Never again will there be a Fall Frolics like our Fall Frolics. Hearing the Tams for the very first time and dancing until we could dance no longer.

Never again will the union between us in all things be as unique, for as all leaves do, we must vanish from the branches of the tree to make way for yet another set of students; for another year; for another life-apart and yet always together.

Christmas . . . Nippy weather, hustle and bustle . . . all led to the excitement of the Children's Christmas Party sponsored by the C.R.O. Embedded in our hearts and minds will always remain the look of the children's smiles and their tender delight as they opened their gifts and found that Santa had brought them exactly what they wanted. The Freshman Christmas Banquet brought us even more fond memories—the dance production and the long-awaited announcement of the Mardi Gras Court, the Queen and Princess.

Sister was ecstatic, to say the least, to learn that she would reign as Mardi Gras Princess and Happy was a surprised and joyous Queen! There were tears, cheers, and wild applause—a grand climax to our Christmas season.

This was a year of firsts at Sullins. Julie Cooper was elected to represent Sullins in Glamour's search for America's Ten Best Dressed College Girls.

Jan Zweifel, Mary Bishop, Dorcas Evans, Jo Ann Baltrus, Sherree Benner, Debbie Worsham, Sandra Dressler, and Sarah Embrey were selected to represent the college in Who's Who in American Junior Colleges.

The faculty went all out this year and proved to the students that they were really groovy by staging a mock wedding, which roused everyone to shrieks of laughter and squeals of delight. Mr. Daugherty was the ultimate in blushing brides, while Mr. Glasgow typified the nervous groom.

The wedding was done up in style, highlighted by a "pulsating" solo by Mrs. Vance and attended by the most distinguished guests, Miss Hatcher, Mrs. Kristofek, Mrs. Coffee, Dean Johnson, Miss Gregg, and Mr. and Mrs. Wheless, all decked out in the latest "mod"? fashions.

Mardi Gras Queen

HAPPY STRONG

The most exciting event of the school year was Mardi Gras weekend. Happy Strong reigned as Queen over the festivities, and Mary Bishop added an extra touch of beauty as our princess.

The activities began on Friday night with the presentation of the Court, Pages, Queen, and Princess. Dressed in aqua, and carrying yellow chrysanthemums, the court was announced. Following the court were the pages. The Princess, dressed in yellow, curtsied and awaited the presentation of the Queen. Queen Happy, elegant in a gown of white satin, knelt to receive her crown.

The entire court was presented again on Saturday night at the Ball, which was the grand finale to an eventful weekend.

Queen Happy Strong is escorted from her throne after the coronation by her brother, Kenneth.

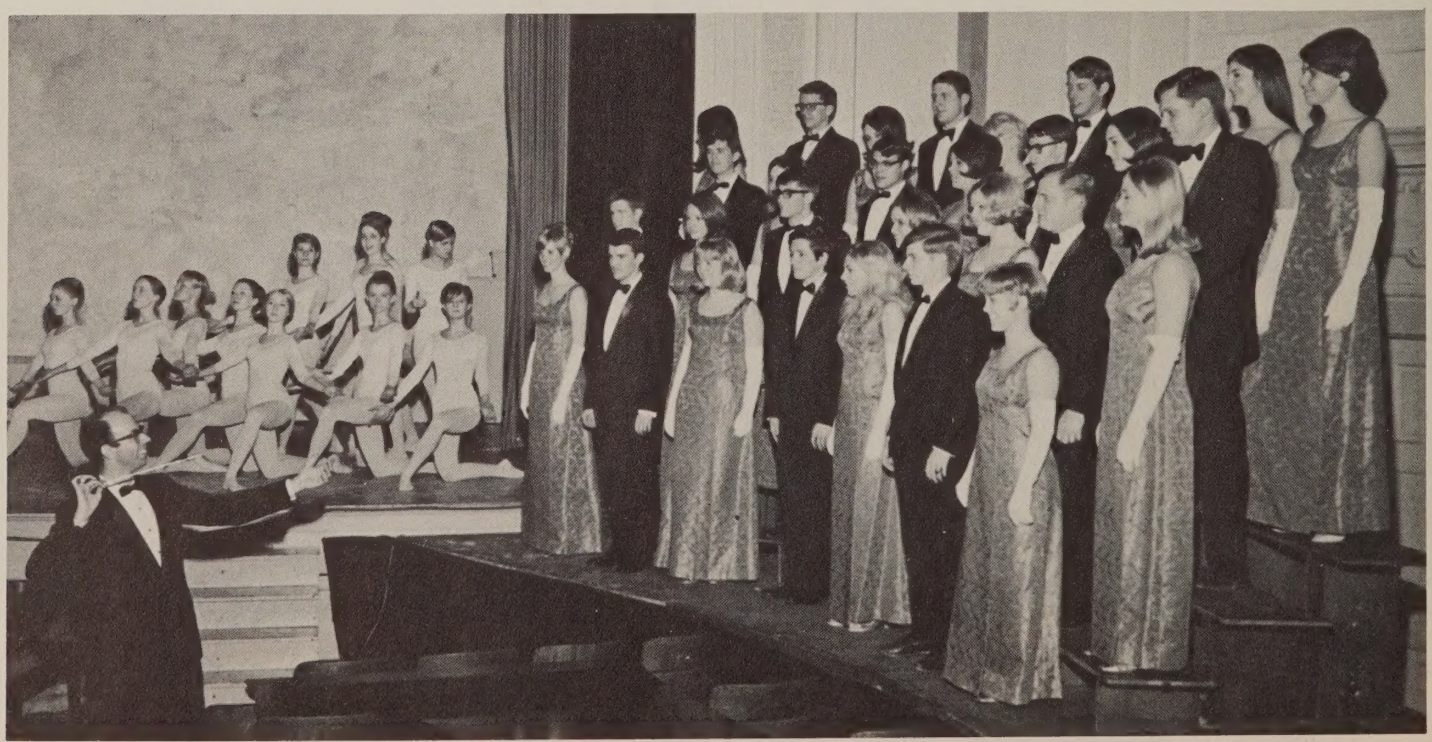
Mardi Gras

Sewanee and Sullins complement each other, presenting an excellent program.

The Polovtsian dancers captivated their audience with the ease with which they performed.



Mr. Daugherty conducts the altos and tenors as the dancers move on stage.

Highlights

The unified efforts of the choir and dancers produced an excellent performance as the prelude to the Mardi Gras festivities. The hard work and tedious practices which preceeded the concert proved well worth the time and effort. The enthusiasm and enjoyment expressed by the performers was met with sincere attention and overwhelming applause on the part of the audience.

The ball held Saturday night was set off in "Cinderella" fashion and left us all with many happy memories. The pride of the fathers as they presented their daughters and the wacky fun of dancing the "Charleston" highlighted the wonderful evening and made it a success for the Freshmen who devoted so much time to make the dance a night to remember.

The faculty was on hand at the Ball to greet the girls and their dates.

Mirror Girl

DORCAS EVANS

The leaves of the tree shimmered and sparkled as many of their members were recognized and awarded honors.

Mirror Girl, sponsored by the Reflector, is one of the most coveted honors which the student body can bestow on a sophomore. This year's recipient, Dorcas Evans, has added immeasurably to life at Sullins through her leadership, enthusiasm, and responsibility. As President of the Student Body, she has done just this and has been rightfully awarded the title, "Mirror Girl of 1968."

Brandy Corbett was elected to represent Sullins at the annual Apple Blossom Festival held in Winchester, Virginia.

May Queen and Princess

Sophomores anxiously awaited the traditional May Day Festivities so they might present to their families and friends the May Queen and Princess of 1968. Reigning at the celebration this year was Miss Dorcas Evans, Queen, and Miss Kit Chandler, Princess. Dorcas is from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Kit came to us from Coral Gables, Florida.

As is customary, these festivities were held on Friday afternoon of Graduation weekend. Presentation and crowning of these girls were the highlights of the program which took place in the setting of the Sylvan Theater.

May Court

May Court is a traditional honor, also, as are the honors of being elected Queen and Princess. Twenty girls were elected to serve as attendants to the Queen for the annual May Day celebration. In addition to the girls in the court, two girls were elected pages. Each of these girls were presented to their families, friends, and fellow graduates in a very lovely and unforgettable ceremony on the Friday before Graduation.

The May Court awaits their moment of presentation.

Coronation of Queen Big Moment!

Without a doubt, the most spectacular moment of the presentation of the May Queen, Princess, Pages, and her majesty's Court, was the coronation ceremony. It was with dignity that we crowned Sullins' May Queen.

The May Queen receives a bouquet of flowers before her coronation.

Pageant and Horse Show

Meredith Little is partnered by Robert Mullins in the ballet "Coppelia."

The queen and her court are grandly entertained.

A final moment in the ballet performed by members of the Dance Department.

Contributing their graciousness and talent to the May Day festivities, the Dance Department presented a beautiful ballet as part of the pageantry. With ease and perfection the dancers performed on this annual occasion for the many parents and friends in the audience, as well as for her majesty and her attendants.

Spark Commencement Weekend

The riders pace their mounts around the ring in preparation for the competition.

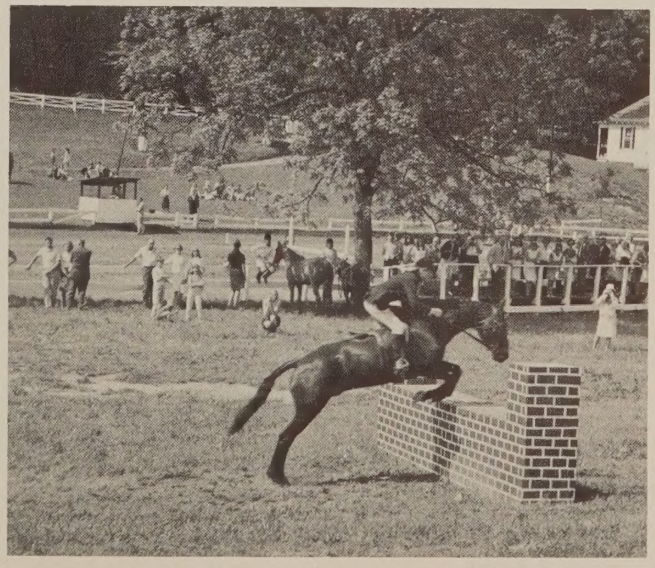
Commencement weekend would not have been complete without our equestriennes displaying their skills and abilities in their final horse show of the year. Much practice and preparation went into their exhibitions in jumping and pacing. All the polishing, shining, grooming of the horses along with the riders exhausting practices was rewarded in the end by the decisions of the judges.

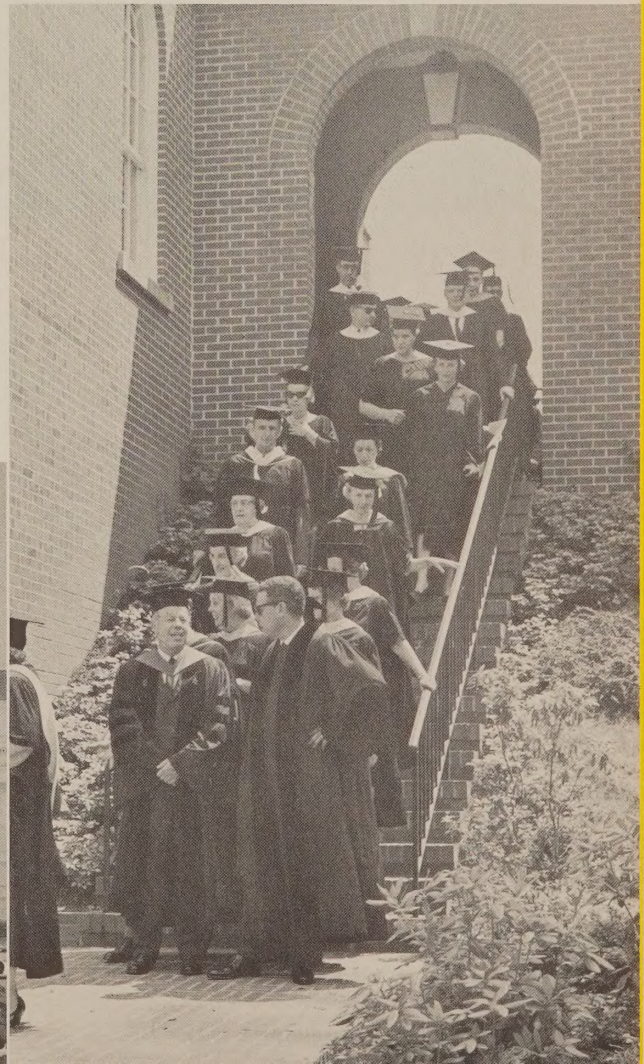


A rider and her horse demonstrate their jumping skill.

Commencement Weekend Packed

with Activities

Exams ended and commencement weekend began with full force packing as much fun and as many activities as possible into a mere three days. There seemed to be hardly enough time to attend all the whirl of planned activities, but parents and daughters did manage to attend the many things. There was the Mother-Daughter luncheon, the choir performance, Mr. Onorato's band performance, the art exhibits to see, the father's buffet at Mr. Bailey's home, not to mention our Graduation Ball, the Baccalaureate Sermon, and most important, our Graduation.



The longest awaited and possibly the happiest day of our Sullins' lives finally arrived with Graduation Day. We, the young and tender buds of that same tree, had at last matured—had come into the fullness of our knowledge and experience here. As the leaves of summer, we knew that we should fall from this tree to be blown away toward new beginnings, new reaches, new understandings, at other times—in other places.

We have given of ourselves in an effort to improve ourselves, our friends, this school of which we are a part. We will carry away with us knowledge and memories, but we are no longer leaves of the tree. . . .
